

MARY QUASS

President/CEO
NRG Media

We are perched on the precipice of the chasm between “traditional broadcasting — the tried and true” and the “new new frontier” of wireless digital distribution. Therefore, we are faced with this dilemma: Do we gaze down into the chasm and hope that we can somehow make it to the other side? Or do we calculate the distance across, look for potential obstacles, build a sling shot, check the wind, pull back, and fire — sending us soaring across the divide and landing squarely and successfully on the other side? We pretty much know what things look like on this side of the chasm, and no one can be sure what is on the other side. But for my money, let’s pull back the sling and FIRE!
